

Barony of al-Barran

In the Kingdom of the Outlands

In the hallowed years of antiquity, our great society was born in the West. From it sprang forth many worthy enclaves of gentles celebrating another place and time in the current middle ages. In the eighth year of the society, amid a harsh desert landscape, a bountiful oasis was discovered. Its people full of excitement and vigor. In those days, in that place, the Sun King of Atenveldt did see the worth of this paradise on pilgrim's road east. Wishing to secure the oasis, he did call upon his goodly subject Sir Raymond the Quiet to establish a Barony in this wilderness, making the passage safe through the desert. What Sir Raymond and the gentles there-in built was the Barony of al-Barran.

So it was and so it is today. In the heart of what is now the Stag Kingdom of the Outlands, a wondrous community thrives. The stoutest warriors, finest craftsman, most talented artists, and best populace the Known World over calls this Flower of the Desert their home. We of al-Barran take pride in our great history as part of the society. We are home of the Known World's second oldest event, Grand Outlandish Tournament, celebrating its forty-third year in A.S. 50. We look forward to another 50 years here in our desert oasis. Fighting hard by day, dancing to the drums at night, as is our way.

© photo by Lady Bree of Caer Galen

